
Mr. Saj H Khan

Consultant Ophthalmic Surgeon

M.B.B.S, FRCSEd(Ophth)

Mr. Khan is a Consultant Ophthalmic Surgeon and Bond Solon trained Expert Witness. After graduating in medicine from the University of London, he obtained experience in general practice before pursuing a career as an ophthalmologist. His training included periods at St. Thomas' Hospital, Great Ormond Street Hospital for Sick Children, Moorfields Eye Hospital and the Corneoplastics Unit and Eye Bank in East Grinstead where he undertook fellowship training in cataract, corneal and refractive surgery.

Mr. Khan has been a Consultant Ophthalmic Surgeon since 2007 and consults in Caterham and Croydon. He has extensive experience in general ophthalmology but more specifically as a specialist anterior segment surgeon, including all types of cataract, lens and laser based vision correction surgery.

In addition to being a native English speaker, Mr Khan also speaks Punjabi and Urdu. He is a Council Member of United Kingdom & Ireland Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgeons (UKISCRS) and the British Society of Refractive Surgery (BSRS), and also a member of European Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgeons (ESCRS).

Mr. Saj H Khan